Art Unit: 2635

1. This Office action is in response to the application filed June 23, 2003. Claims 15-69 are pending.

2. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

3. Claims 15-69 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-5 of U.S. Patent No. 6,606,032. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the differences are considered to be obvious.

Unlike the claims allowed in the cited Patent, some of the instant claims recite a boring tool which is the source of rotation. Such a limitation is considered to be obvious since it was indirectly recited in the claims of the Patent via the preamble. The use of a drill string, which is considered to be a boring tool, to communicate with a sonde or other device within a borehole is conventional. The use of rotation of a drill string to transmit commands is known in the art. Other limitations within the instant claims are generally considered to be broader in scope, and therefore are anticipated by the claims of the Patent. Anticipation has been held to epitomize obviousness.
